

FACE

Power Distance

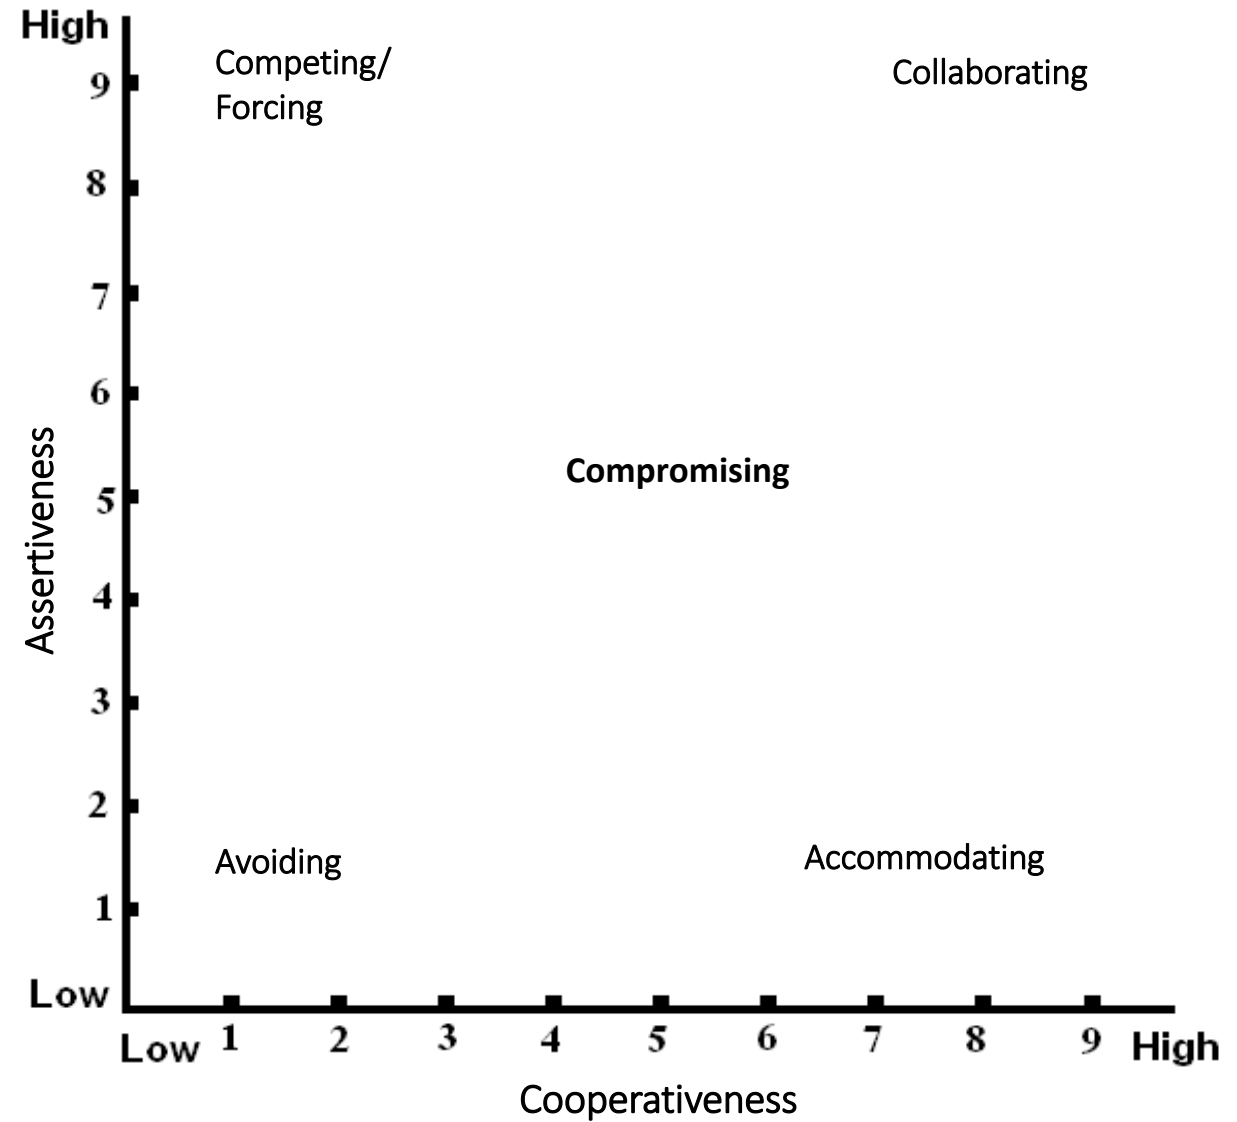

Time: Monochronic and Diachronic

Monochronic: linear, divisible time, schedules have priority over relationships, do one thing at a time

Polychronic: simultaneous events, interpersonal interaction has priority

Conflict Styles

Sources

Face Negotiation Theory

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bQJcMas_dnw (Stella Ting-Toomey)

Power Distance

Yang Lui, East Meets West: <http://bsix12.com/east-meets-west/>

Geert Hofstede, <https://hi.hofstede-insights.com/national-culture>

Monochronic and Polychronic Time

Edward T. Hall: Understanding Cultural Differences, Yarmouth 1990

Conflict Styles, Thomas, K. W., and Kilmann, R. H. The Thomas-Kilmann Conflict Mode

Instrument (Mountain View, CA: CPP, Inc., 1974).